Dear Christos,

You may have heard that developer Alloy came to the December 1st Gowanus Superfund CAG meeting with their recent proposal.

It was an interesting presentation, followed by a 'rebuttal' by NYC DEP.

The Alloy representatives mentioned that they had met with EPA, so I wanted to ask you directly:

Would EPA have a conflict with the plan Alloy presented to the CAG? Would it support EPA's proposed technology related to the siting of the tank?

I think many in the CAG and in the community would like to hear directly from you on this subject.

With regards, Katia
